Dear Friends:

The Veterinary Pharmacology Research Foundation (VPRF) is a public charity which was formed in 2007 by members of the American Academy of Veterinary Pharmacology and Therapeutics (AAVPT) and the American College of Veterinary Clinical Pharmacology (ACVCP). VPRF is exempt from income taxation pursuant to Section 501©(3) of the Internal Revenue Code, which means that donations to the Foundation may be claimed as deductible charitable contributions by a donor. The Foundation's federal EIN is 26-1286891.

The overall purpose of the Foundation is to support research and training in veterinary pharmacology. The support for research focuses on three areas: the evaluation of safe and effective therapies for veterinary species, the development and validation of models of animal diseases or conditions, and the development and validation of pharmacological approaches to enhance food safety. The Foundation's training support consists of sponsoring summer internships for veterinary and graduate students and supporting ACVCP residency programs for veterinarians.

The Foundation accepts donations of cash and securities at any time. Donations to the Foundation should be made payable to the Veterinary Pharmacology Research Foundation and sent to the treasurer:

Dr. Dan Gingerich,
Treasurer, Veterinary Pharmacology Research Foundation
2219 Wilmington Road
Lebanon, OH 45036

A bequest by will or other later-vesting gift to the Foundation should designate the Foundation by its full and name and direct the donation to Dr. Gingerich's attention such as,

"I give $_____to the Veterinary Pharmacology Research Foundation, an Illinois Not-for-Profit Corporation classified as a public charity under Section 501©(3) of the Internal Revenue Code (EIN 26-1286891), with its principal place of business located c/o Dr. Dan Gingerich, 2219 Wilmington Road, Lebanon, OH 45036.
